Marines Prep for Maneuvers

Gen. Harkins Flies to Thai-Laos Frontier

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Monsoon-drenched U.S. Marines prepared today to join Thai army units in military maneuvers near Thailand's tense border with Communist-menaced Laos.

Torrential rains lashed the rice paddies where the bulk of the 1,800-man Marine battle group in northeast Thailand is camped only 30 miles from the Mekong River border with Laos. The Marines plodded through deep mud this morning to clean up their impressive array of shooting iron.

Gen. Paul D. Harkins, over-all commander of the U.S. force in Thailand, flew to northeast Laos today to inspect the situation, which Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev warned might explode into a shooting match like the Korea war.

Harkins, also head of the U.S. Military Assistance Command in South Viet Nam, declared that the American forces in Thailand are under hold-fire orders. But he warned that danger still lurks from pro-Communist forces in Laos whose recent offensive brought American troops rushing to Thailand to discourage any further Communist advances.

Lt. Gen. James L. Richardson and U.S. Ambassador Kenneth T. Young accompanied Harkins on the flight to Udorn, 350 miles northeast of Bangkok. They arranged to drive to the town of Nong Han, where the Marines are camped.

Communist radio broadcasts claimed royal Laotian troops attacked and drove back pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels from an area near the royal capital of Luang Prabang earlier this week.

But reports from Laos indicated a lull in military activity as attention focused on diplomatic maneuvers that the United States hopes will bring about a neutral Laos and end the need for U.S. troops in Thailand.

Prince Souvanna Phouma, self-styled Laotian neutralist leader, headed home from Europe today to try once again to form a non-aligned government, which both the United States and the Soviet Union say they want.

The anti-Communist Vientiane government of Premier Prince Boun Oum and strongman Gen. Phoumi Nosavan had balked at joining a coalition under Souvanna, contending he is too weak to prevent pro-Communists from leading Laos into the Red camp. But after recent Pathet Lao gains, they asked Souvanna to return for another try.

The Communists meanwhile mounted a torrent of words—but no overt moves—at the U.S. military buildup in Thailand.

In Bulgaria last night, Khrushchev called the move unwise and said it might lead to another

Says Mayor, Aldom 'Playing Politics'

City Auditor Hits 'False Statements'

Auditor Helen Coyne today attacked what she called "untrue statements and insinuations" made by Mayor Dean B. Cranmer and Democratic Councilman James Aldom at Tuesday night's meeting of City Council.

"I hate to say it but I'm afraid they're playing a little bit of politics," commented Mrs. Coyne, a Republican. "I don't want anyone to think I'm going to sit back and let their falsehoods go unchallenged."

"For one thing," the auditor remarked, "Mr. Aldom said Salem is getting a bad reputation because I won't pay the city's bills. The truth is," she explained, "when bills are presented to me and there is money to pay them—I pay them. It's as simple as that."

"As for the mayor," Mrs. Coyne continued, "he says he can't get the information he wants about city income tax revenue. The truth is, he has never come into my office to ask about it," she said. "The records are here, all he has to do is ask."

Mayor Cranmer had complained to Council Tuesday that the auditor's report on the income tax didn't show a true picture of how much revenue the 1961 tax actually produced.

Mrs. Coyne stated it has been reported in the paper several times that the city collected $130,558.59 between Jan. 1 and Dec. 31, 1961, from the income tax.

The mayor pointed out that people had until April 15 to pay their 1961 city income tax. He said what he would like to know is how much money was collected on 1961 income.

The auditor says the books are not kept to show that information since the city operates on a fiscal year starting Jan. 1 and ending Dec. 31.

At the request of Council's finance committee, the auditor did compile figures showing how much money the income tax produced up through Jan. 31, 1962. She explained that almost all of the revenue from the 1961 tax was collected by that time. These figures showed that the 1961 city income tax produced $170,187.

In addition to the disputes over unpaid bills and the income tax reports, the mayor and auditor also have been arguing over $12,000.

Priest, Gunman Exchange Shots

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — A priest at the Sacred Heart Church Parish House exchanged pistol shots early today with a burglar. It was the second time the rectory on Youngstown's East Side had been invaded by burglars this month.

Rev. David Born and the burglar each fired four shots at fairly close range, police said, but neither was injured.

The 38 caliber pistol from under his bed after being awakened by a noise on the stairs outside his third-floor bedroom.

Standing near the doorway, he saw a flashlight beam. "Who is it?" he asked, and a voice replied "Constantino."

The priest saw the outline of a small man and ordered him to stand still "or I'll shoot."

"I'll shoot too, father," the burglar replied.

Kennedy Pays Visit to Father Will Speak Sunday On Medicare Bill

NEW YORK (AP) — President Kennedy, heartened by the latest medical report, put another visit with his convalescing father ahead on a schedule today that concentrates mainly on winning friends and pulling in money for the Democratic party.

After seeing 73-year-old former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, the President arranged a call on a teen-aged girl who lost her parents—her father was a White House news photographer—in an accident that crippled her last summer.

Both the girl, 15-year-old Pattie Corte, and the elder Kennedy are under treatment in the New York University Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation at Bellevue Medical Center.

From the Institute, Kennedy planned a brief visit with Democratic party benefactors before appearing at the dedication of a cooperative housing development that will put him on the same platform with Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

The President speaks tonight at a fund-raising rally embellished with a host of Broadway and Hollywood entertainers at Madison Square Garden. The rally is billed as a birthday salute to Kennedy, who turns 45 May 29, and the sponsors have been selling tickets at either $100 or $1,000 in hopes of enriching the party treasury by more than $1 million.

That function, plus another speech Sunday at a Madison Square Garden jamboree to promote his medical care program, brought Kennedy to New York for the weekend. But he used the

Grand Jury Investigation Set

'Suicide' Probed In Estes Scandal

BRYAN, Tex. (AP)—A grand jury will look into the mysterious death of an Agriculture Department agent who had been investigating Billie So. Estes' dealings in cotton allotments.

Dist. Atty. Bryan Russ ordered the probe Friday "to clear the cloud connecting this with the Billie So. Estes case—if there is any connection."

The jury will meet at nearby Franklin, Tex., Monday.

Meanwhile, Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., disclosed in Washington that only five months ago he received suggestions of a move to draft Estes to run for governor of Texas. Yarborough said he discouraged the move.

And in Houston an Immigration and Naturalization Service officer said that airline and shipping companies are being notified they will be penalized if they give Estes passage out of the country. The Houston Post quoted James L. Hennessey, executive assistant to the commissioner of immigration and naturalization, as saying in Washington that the order went to every port in the nation for relay to transportation firms.

U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman has been invited to "come down if he has any pertinent information to offer" at the grand jury probe in Franklin, Dist. Atty. Russ said. Freeman has had no comment.

The death was that of Henry Marshall, shot June 3, 1961, on his farm near Franklin. Local authorities said he died perhaps five hours after he fired five bullets into his abdomen from a .22 caliber, bolt-action rifle.

Marshall was chief of production adjustment for the State

Agricultural Stabilization and conservation office.

Freeman said May 7 that much of the Estes case remains cloudy because many of the facts died with Marshall.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said he expects the Estes scandal to be "a real shaker" before it's over.

3 Dangerous Jail Breakers Recaptured

NEW YORK (AP) — Two Chicago jail breakers — one an accused murderer — were arrested here Friday night by FBI agents who chanced upon one of them on a street. A companion in the breakout last Wednesday was grabbed in Chicago earlier in the day.

H. G. Foster, special agent in charge of the FBI office here, said agents arrested Michael Huntington, 19, when they met him unexpectedly on an Upper East Side street. William Triplett was seized later in an apartment.

Triplett was accused of murder and Huntington had been indicted as an accessory to rape and on two counts of conspiracy to violate public morals.

Their companion in the jailbreak, Paul Muhlig, 19, had been indicted in a burglary and a synagogue bombing.

Foster said the trio stole an automobile after the escape and drove it to Matteson, Ill. There they abandoned the car and kidnapped Everett Raymond Irl, a motorist, and forced him at gunpoint to drive them to the Cincinnati suburb of Woodlawn where he was left unharmed.

The trio then drove to Dayton where they abandoned Irl's car and split up, Muhlig going back to Chicago and Triplett and Huntington making their way here, Foster said.

Triplett and Huntington were held for an appearance today before a U. S. commissioner. In addition to the charges for which they were in jail, the men were wanted on federal warrants charging them with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution, kidnapping, and transporting a kidnaper on a state line.

Troubles Mount For Teamster Chief

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa was indicted by a federal court jury here Friday on charges of violating the Taft-Hartley Law and collecting some $1 million illegally.

The two-count indictment, which involved payment through an auto transport firm incorporated in Nashville, was revealed in Washington by Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy. The attorney general, along with his brother President Kennedy, then a senator, participated in an investigation of the firm by the McClellan committee looking into improper labor practices.

Hoffa, who pleaded innocent earlier Friday to a charge of assault pressed by a union aide, declined to discuss the new indictment with newsmen. But a teamster official in Chicago said Hoffa "shed no tears" when informed of it.

Hoffa, who flew to Chicago for two scheduled talks after his Washington court appearance, sent Harold Gibbons, executive vice president of the Teamsters, as a substitute at a scheduled Chicago press conference.

"If it (the indictment) is anything like other indictments against labor leaders in this country," Gibbons told newsmen, "the essence of it is anything but the truth."

If convicted, Hoffa could be sentenced to up to one year in prison and fined $10,000 on each of the two counts.

At Orlando, Fla., federal court has under advisement a petition by Hoffa's lawyers to dismiss a federal mail fraud indictment based on a land development deal involving alleged misuse of half a million dollars of teamster union funds.

Indicted with Hoffa at Nashville was Commercial Carriers, Inc., a Detroit auto transport firm charged with setting up the Tennessee firm, Test Fleet Corp., and throwing lucrative Cadillac auto hauling business its way. At the labor contract with the Teamsters Union.

The indictment charges Hoffa and the late Owen Brennan, former Teamsters vice president, received $1,009,057 from Commercial Carriers through Test Fleet, the stock of which had been transferred by Commercial Carriers to Mrs. Hoffa and Mrs. Brennan under Before smoke cleared away a patrol of gendarmes in armored vehicles raced out into the street. Suddenly rifle and machine-gun fire broke out from embankments overlooking the street. The gendarmes returned heavy fire.

Other gendarme units were called into the area to throw a blockade around it as the palace unit and the secret army commandos exchanged fire.

The rattle of automatic weapons fire sent people in the area scurrying into hiding.

The assault case against Hoffa by Samuel Baron, 50-year-old field director of the Teamsters National Warehouse Division, was set for trial June 19. Hoffa's request for a jury trial was granted. Baron, who exhibited a bruised and cut up face, said Hoffa attacked him in the union's plush Washington headquarters Thursday climaxing a feud of long standing.

Secret Army, Police Battle

Tough Gendarmes Counterattack

ALGIERS (AP)—Secret Army Organization terrorists attacked mobile gendarmes stationed in the Summer Palace with mortar fire today, then fled before a determined counterattack.

The tough mobile gendarmes poured out of their headquarters and encircled the entire district after engaging the terrorists in an exchange of rifle and machinegun fire. The secret army commandos fled into a wooded heights area.

There were no reports of casualties on either side in the battle. The Summer Palace once was the home of France's delegate-general to Algeria, but now houses detachments of the mobile gendarmes, a military-type police force.

The mortar shells were lobbed into the grounds of the palace and burst in the lush tropical gardens. No one was injured.

Confident Living

By Dr. NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

A Message In Your Fears?

I received a rather pathetic letter from a man who asked personal advice. "My problem," he wrote, "is some sort of fear and it's making me miserable."

Dr. Peale

He described a curious situation: "For several years I traveled in sales work. I loved every minute of it. My wife often accompanied me. But since our income needed bolstering she recently took a job. So when I leave to spend a week in other parts of the country, I must go alone."

"Now this is what happens. When I get to my destination I start worrying about my wife. I wonder if she will be all right while I'm away. I become very conscious of time. Days seem like weeks. My stomach then starts to bother me. I find it difficult to eat and sometimes I cannot keep food down. I try to remember that God will take care of me, my wife and everything else but somehow these negative thoughts keep popping up. Sometimes I actually get to feeling so badly that I just quit and come home."

"How can I fill my mind with thoughts that will outweigh these fears and enable me to relax? I can't hold my job unless I get hold of myself. You see what I am up against. I want victory over this."

IN REPLY I TOLD this troubled man that I thought his problem required more detailed treatment than could be undertaken by letter. I referred him to an experienced counsellor in his area, a friend of mine, a man of insight, to whom he could go for help. But I also ventured a few observations.

"When we are troubled with fears," I said, "they sometimes indicate that something in the way in which we are living is not right and God is trying to awaken us to this fact. Whether this is now the case with you, I do not know. If it is, could it mean that the job your wife recently took is not good for her? Or that you are supposed to give up traveling and get a job at home?"

"The best cure for fear," I went on to say, "is greater faith. But to gain that faith you have to be receptive to God's guidance and perhaps accept the need for a change in some aspect of your life. In other words, there is often a message in our fears."

Actually I think it could be said that ALL fear carries some important message. "Fear is sharp-sighted," wrote Cervantes in Don Quixote, "and sees things underground. . . ."

SOMETIMES IT portends a physical danger which the conscious mind has not noticed or will not admit. For example, a man I sat beside at an association dinner confided to me that for about three weeks he had been having spells of acute anxiety during the day at his office, with a breathless sensation and pains around the shoulder blades — and all for no reason he could fathom.

As we continued to talking it came out that some weeks previously one of his partners had suffered a heart attack midway through a directors' meeting and had died right before his eyes. As though the possibility had just occurred to him, he then asked if I thought there could be any connection between that event and his feelings. Obviously, there could be plenty. Very likely he was being forced to realize that he would have to slow up — or risk overtaxing his own heart.

SOME FEARS, OF COURSE, are symptoms of emotional or spiritual illness, often stemming from experiences long past. A man plagued with a vague fearfulness in almost everything he tried to do came to me for consultation. I noticed that he repeatedly used such expressions as "That is over my head" or "This is too deep for me." I soon learned that as a boy he had nearly drowned in a swimming pool. His fearful mother then told him he must never go swimming again under any circumstances. So he had to sit watching other youngsters swim, but never could go in himself.

Later on he developed the feeling that most things in life were "too deep," or too much for him to cope with. With counseling which developed insight and some intensive practice in trusting God, this man eventually overcame his fearfulness.

Now he can dive and swims with the best of them, both in a swimming pool and in life. He found for himself the truth of the great Biblical statement: "I sought the Lord, and He heard me, and delivered me from all my fears."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Who Is a Communist In Laos?

Sooner or later, for one reason or another, the identity of the Communists in Laos will be pinned down.

There is no reason to doubt that the United States and the Soviet Union agree on the necessity for a cease-fire in Laos. Yet if their agreement, as voiced by Secretary of State Rusk and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. T. Dobrynin, is taken at face value, the next step is to determine who has the strongest motive for breaking up a cease-fire in Laos.

This step leads to still another step. Who has the strongest motive for fishing in the troubled waters of Southeast Asia's turbulent nationalism?

It is convenient to speak of the source of trouble wherever it occurs as Communists. It is convenient to disregard the unconvincing fact that Communist has ceased to be a collective term; that there are several kinds of Communists with no love lost between them.

IN THE LONG VIEW all Communists are the same, whether they be Albanian, Chinese, Cuban or Russian. But another way of taking the long view reveals that differing factions of Communists ultimately must fall out and try to destroy each other, disagreement being the foreseeable fate of all extrémists.

Are the Communists in Laos Russian?
Are they Chinese?

Are they native dissidents accepting military assistance from Russia or China?

Or are they accepting military assistance from both, which would mean that widely advertised schism between Russian Communists and Chinese Communists was a hoax to toll the Western powers?

One more possibility may be considered. The "Communists" in Laos may be local. They may be equally embarrassing to both Russia and China, which cannot disown them and cannot take responsibility for them either for fear of losing face if they fail.

"COMMUNISTS" are the enemy in Southeast Asia. If the United States gets embroiled in a shooting war, the targets will be "Communists." If that happens, the identity of the "Communists" will be known. The United States must be prepared among other things for the possibility that one of these days it might blunder into a choice between Communists; that it might become the ally of one side in an action to destroy another side of the same hateful threat, in the same way it became the ally of dictatorial Russia to destroy dictatorial Germany.

No Love Needs to Be Lost

A White House conference on national economic issues beginning next Monday is expected to have the good effect of convincing businessmen President Kennedy loves them as much as he loves his own businessman-father.

It is safe to predict there will be no harsh words spoken. No names will be called. But neither will there be anything done about antitrust suits that sometimes are capricious. Nothing will have been done about taxation that puts dents in the optimism of the most optimistic, and it's unlikely anything of consequence will be done in that direction.

Nothing can be done to wipe out the unfortunate impression that President Kennedy is capable of lowering the boom on business if it doesn't go along with his views but presumably unwilling to lower the boom on organized labor no matter what it chooses to do.

This is the root of the problem of the White House-business relationship.

NO LOVE needs to be lost between the country's political leader and its leading businessmen. There is no way to prove that business gets along better when its heart beats as one with the heart in the White House.

What needs to be established is a conviction that the Kennedy administration really means it when it says it has no animosity against business and wants to encourage it. Once that is established the next thing is to go to work on the idea that the federal government will stand for no nonsense about inflationary settlements on the part of union labor.

It is not the fact the White House cracked down on the steel industry for raising prices that damaged confidence. It was the realization which followed that fact — the realization that the White House would have to go against its own political grain to crack down equally hard on the unions that control production costs in steel and many other industries.

There is no comparable White House move to exert similar pressure against unions. They cannot be threatened with legal action. They cannot be brought to heel with statements about reshuffling defense contracts. They have no "corporate image" that can be mutilated and buried 6 feet deep.

Confidence is not built by reciprocal love but by reciprocal respect.

The American people need to know there is to be no return to the cockeyed thinking of Harry Truman, who was capable of seizing the steel industry for standing in his way but incapable of taking his gloves off against big labor unions.

In a Different Light

There's a substance that can be dusted on money which rubs off on the hands of pilferers and shows up under a special light. It can't be washed off. The pilferers don't know it's there until too late.

There was something on the money that Billie Sol Estes passed around. No one suspected it was there. Many people handled Estes money in good faith, as Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., undoubtedly did when he accepted some of it buy radio time for a political campaign.

Even those who may have known or suspected there might be trouble about the money someday didn't worry too much about the future. Estes money had no taint on it as far as anyone could see. Did it not circulate under the auspices of a man widely known as a benefactor, a spiritual leader, a big operator in a big state and an intimate of powerful figures in government?

Let it be to the credit of all who are squirming under investigation or soon will be that nothing about Billie Sol Estes suggested a comparison with any of the big money men who have been in and out of the news in connection with investigations of racketeering. The man seemed to be above reproach.

It just happens that things look different under a different light. What seemed to be innocent at the time it was done does not look innocent now. What seemed to be only mildly questionable in one set of circumstances looks deeply questionable now, in a different set of circumstances.

This will not excuse anyone from bearing his burden of responsibility. No matter how many second-line government officials may be thrown out of the sleigh to divert the ravenous wolves, it will not save first-line officials from facing their moments of truth too. Billie Sol Estes' friends were at the top, not just under the top. The Democrat hierarchy was involved.

The moral: So live that if a different light is put on the money you handled and on your own hands there will be no shrieks in the night, no moaning at the bar.

Once Over

Massachusetts Institute of Technology has successfully lit up the moon with a ray from earth. This is first time its ever happened and Man in Moon must be quite disturbed. Up to now he has been furnishing his own illumination. There's been no competition. He must have been jittery anyhow as a result of all those rocket operations, including a couple of hits.

As a friend of the moon we think a reassuring letter to him is called for:

Dear Man in the Moon: Don't worry about those MIT flashes of light. They are no danger and no threat. The earth likes you. It wants you around.

You must be in a dither over all the talk of moon shots, but they will not constitute enemy action.

You must have been mystified by light rays from the earth. Maybe you thought Casey Stengel was signalling for a new pitcher and was indicating he would take one from any place.

Perhaps you figured President Kennedy and Roger Blough were in another huddle and the light was from the sparks.

Anyhow nobody wants to make trouble for the moon. It has nothing to fear but some of those Tin Pan alley love songs in which the rhymes are pretty bad. You have been helping the love life of all humans, inspiring romance, stirring poets and shedding a benediction on young couples everywhere all your life. (Maybe they have been sending you flashes that made the MIT signals gem minor league.)

You haven't an enemy anywhere on earth, even if you feel pretty doubtful, in view of all the talk of spaceships, moon voyages, landings by human beings, strange light beams from Massachusetts, etc. Everybody is more or less nuts down here, but they're all for you.

It will be a long time before there will be moon landings and by that time maybe humans will have recovered their sanity. So shine on and be happy, up to the point where some beam is developed which sends you TV commercials, U.N. arguments, cat-pillar moths and things like that.

GOTHAM'S EX-FIRE COMMISSIONER, Ed Cavanaugh, says he will not run for governor of New York. He appreciates burdens of the office enough to know that it's a job calling for him, not only to slide DOWN the pole but UP.

Last night I saw upon the stair
An Asian pal who wasn't there;
He wasn't there again today;

In Asia things just go that way.

Wigs for women are being sold by the millions all over the country, with Gotham department stores having a run on them. Ya mean the strange appearance of women's head has not been due to wigs all along!?

Army denies big league ballplayers will be returned to ball parks in couple of weeks. If players really want to get back on diamonds why don't they make some speeches not approved by government.

Peiping's Food Problem

By DENNIS BLOODWORTH

SINGAPORE — The great southern and southwestern provinces of Kwangtung, Kwangsi and Szechuan have been suffering from severe spring drought, according to official reports from China.

The news comes after three calamitous years during which drought and flood, muddle and inefficiency, and the withdrawal of Soviet aid have combined to reduce this giant state of some 700,000,000 souls to near-penury.

China's leaders, who predicted in 1958 that the country's agricultural production would be trebled by now, today face the hard fact that China's grain output this year may be no higher than that of 1957, when there were 50,000,000 fewer mouths to feed.

RELUCTANT to change their plans in the light of inconvenient realities, the Chinese Communists are belatedly elaborating a "policy of readjustment." The government-inspired Peiping People's Daily has attacked industrial enterprises for overstaffing and wastage of manpower, stressing that every available worker must now be sent to the agricultural front.

Agriculture, it insists, is "the basis of the national economy." But to improve farming conditions so that peasant workers are highly productive will be a slow process, and in the meanwhile industry will have to make sacrifices.

No mention is made of the fact that the "socialist" system of the people's communes, introduced in 1958 to regiment the farming population into vast and highly productive collectives, has virtually collapsed, and that the basic cooperative group may consist of only 20 families, each of which may also cultivate its own vegetable plot, keep its own poultry and even pigs.

Nor has this ideological retreat before the peasant's resistance to propertyless communal living produced the needed increase in agricultural yield.

DISSATISFIED with conditions and pay in the towns, many factory workers started drifting off to the country before they were officially asked to "go down to the fields." One thousand undernourished men out of a total labor force of 2,500 workers in a coal mine in a southeastern province recently "deserted" because they thought they would get more to eat in the rural areas.

Yet, at the same time, peasants in North China, seeking to escape from semi-starvation in their communes, were pouring into the nearest provincial capital. Not entitled to local ration cards, they slept in the streets, begged or stole food, and scraped a living in the city, while some of their fellow-farmers took off for the hills and became bandits.

There is no mass starvation in China, and these cases — though well authenticated — are doubtless exceptional. It is also not normal, presumably, for the cigarette ration for factory workers to be reduced progressively until they only receive one cigarette a month each — yet this has happened at one plant. But how does the "average" Chinese live?

TAKING EXAMPLES from all over China, I find that factory workers and miners earn between $14 and $42 a month, according to skill and experience, but average pay is only about $25 a month for trained men. Technicians often receive no more than $28 a month, and qualified doctors (in China there are many official practicing "doctors" who have only had elementary training) are paid approximately $42 a month, although senior physicians in large hospitals may get three times that sum.

The peasant is the lowest paid of all. Even if the work-points system of estimating rewards for collective farming entitles him to $14 a month, he may in the course of a whole year be "advanced" less than $28.

One typical married couple working on the land recently described how they lived on $5 a month. All but $1 of this went on food — but they had no meat, fish, poultry, fruit, flour or milk.

The cereal ration allows between one pound and one-and-a-half pounds of rice or wheat a day to farmers, workers and cadres, but the "unproductive" may only get half this quantity. Other monthly rations include between half-a-pint and one pint of cooking oil, up to a quarter of a pound of sugar, and about one pound of fish.

An ounce or two of meat and less than half a pound of vegetables complete the list. But distribution is uneven, and often there is no fish, no meat and no vegetable. The half-year cloth ration ran to between three and five feet per head during 1961.

THE CHINESE takes in, on the average, about 1,950 calories a day — 350 below the required minimum for good health. Symptoms of under nourishment are widespread, and in many factories and on major irrigation and dam construction sites the incidence among workers of various sicknesses has been as high as 80 and even 90 per cent. There is no adequate medical treatment. Rations for a slightly better diet are given where they are available.

A simple arithmetic will show that, given the means of distribution, even China's poor grain output should be more than sufficient to feed the entire nation, and this would be true of her other farm produce.

But the Russian loans which have built handsome factories in China from Harbin to Canton must now be repaid, mainly out of Chinese agricultural output. And it is for this reason that Peiping's quarrel with Moscow has been unforgivable. For it means that the well-being of millions of hard working, undernourished people is being sacrificed to the ideologian arrogance of a handful of dogmatists.

Forgotten Words?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Writer Criticizes JFK's Program for Aged

Once upon a time a president of the United States made an inaugural speech in which he said: "Ask not what your country can do for you — ask what you can do for your country."

Once upon a time parents struggled through the years to give their children a comfortable home with proper care and an education that would enable those same children some day to earn their own livelihood. Then the grateful children would take care of their parents in old age. They felt glad to do so. Those who did not have children to assume this responsibility and who were unfortunate enough to become indigent were cared for by relatives and in some cases by the states or cities or churches through nursing homes.

Now comes a message from President Kennedy to Congress this week asking for a 5-year program, costing $50 million, for "grants to improve services for the aged."

The federal government thus seeks to assume the responsibility for all the problems of the aged — not just in medical care alone.

A White House statement says the purpose of the grants would be "to provide federal assistance to help train personnel for work in the field of aging and to provide federal aid for pilot community planning projects and demonstration and research projects, to gain further knowledge about how the specific needs of older people can best be met."

This is a rather vague outline of how $50 million is to be spent. There is no attention being paid to the fact that this is a problem for the family of the citizen himself or, in emergency cases, for the local community. Suddenly, however, it is to become a federal function, and federal funds are sought to pay for it.

There are about 110 million persons over 21 years of age in America. Of these, about 17 million are 65 years of age or older. Is it conceivable that any considerable number out of the 17 million cannot provide for themselves or be provided for by their children or relatives?

Aren't the local communities and welfare organizations capable of handling the problems of those aged persons who do not have children or relatives and are without Social Security or other adequate income?

Me and the Shrinkers

By TRUMAN TWILL

Every time I read about someone's attempts to prove the head-shrinkers made a mistake by calling him insane, I shiver.

It could happen to anybody. It could happen to me.

I have a mental picture of me squirming in a chair trying to prove my sanity to a committee of experts. They keep taking off their glasses and wiping them, meanwhile pursing their lips and looking thoughtful.

"But how do you explain the empty medicine bottles, old fellow?" asks the one with the tuft of hair in the middle of his skin.

"I've told you a hundred times that I keep them to remind me of what cured me if I get well," I snap. "If I don't get well, I throw the bottles away because I wasted my money. What's nutty about that? What do you do about empty medicine bottles, mister?"

"Doctor, if you please," purrs Tufty. "Now let's pass on to another point that looms large in our appraisal of your condition . . . the way you put on your pants. Do you have any explanation for that?"

"I put on my pants one leg at a time like any sane man," I reply, beginning to twist my fingers in my lap and tap my left toe, which is the side I happen to be coordinated on better than the other side. "It never crossed my mind there was anything peculiar about the way I happen to do this until you told me what you had seen while peeping through the transom while you had me caged in the hospital. No one ever complained before."

The head-shrinker with the poi-belly fielded that one. "How your family could be oblivious to such a peculiarity baffles me," he mused. "But then perhaps you always dressed in secret. Maybe you had gut feelings, huh, how about that, huh?"

I wither the guy with a look of hatred. He withers back.

"Don't get any ideas about jumping us, chump," he snarls, "or we'll put you in a hole so deep you can't even see light at the top. You got any questions, Stravinsky?"

Stravinsky is the one that gives me the jumps. He has this habit of pulling at one ear, see. And wiggling his nose like a rabbit. Also a tic in the left side of his

President Kennedy in his message to Congress says that the projects will, "in most instances, be under the control of the states, local communities, and nonprofit institutions and organizations." But why, it will be asked, is it necessary for the federal government to appropriate $50 million when the state and local governments collect annually about $50 billion in taxes?

PERHAPS the real purpose to set up another of the many forms of political control over local affairs which the crusaders for more and more centralized government constantly espouse.

The President's message to Congress says the project will encourage and assist universities, professional school and other institutions, organizations and agencies to increase their programs for training those professional and technical people needed to provide the broad range of services required by older people.

Mr. Kennedy says that life expectancy has increased, and hence many of our older citizens face special problems resulting from incomes, inadequate housing, large medical bills, declining health, unproductive leisure time and lack of opportunity to continue their useful service to society.

But is it the function of the federal government to spend taxpayers money trying to provide for the productivity of the leisure time of the aged and for opportunities to continue their useful service to society?

HOW, MOREOVER, will the Kennedy administration solve the dilemma it faces in Congress, where any grants to colleges or universities operated by churches are promptly upposed as unconstitutional.

Many of the institutions taking care of older people are integral parts of the churches of various denominations.

None of these barriers seems to be insurmountable to the administration's idea men. Every few days the mimeograph machines at the executive offices busily turn out pronouncements on social welfare on the theory that it is really the business of the government to care for the individual "from the cradle to the grave."

Indeed, the phases of the Kennedy self-reliance and individual responsibility, rather than dependence on government, seem already to have become obsolete, although the same words are less than 18 months old.

face. And when he smiles he looks sick, like real sick.

"I have more questions than this character could answer if his name was Eye Bee Em," whispers the guy. I saw a case exactly like him in Vienna before the war. It was written up in the journals. Every single detail fits. Same appearance, same symptoms. Hang-dog expression. Hang-dog expression. Same squiggles with the finger painting. Same answers to the answer-yes-or-no questions.

"Same speedometer and volt-meter readings, too. Very significant. The one in Vienna was put a cage for good. He was a real squirrel, that one was. Went berserk in the courtroom. Had hallucinations about being railroaded. Tried to chug his way out of there as if he was a yard engine.

Turned out later he had been in love with a studio piano, but only the black keys. Couldn't stand the white ones. Always ate around the raisins in raisin bread and rice pudding. Saved them for dessert. How squirrely can you get?"

At this point, the men in blue lead me away. When I wake up I'm always in the kitchen looking for the raisins I feel sure are around there somewhere.

It's like a nightmare because I'd swear I am as sane as the head-shrinkers, yet they can put me away and all I can do about them is have nightmares, like that woman in Washington who thought she knew something about Billie Sol Estes. There, I CAN spell his name right! Who says I'm incompetent to handle my own affairs

'Jumping Frog' Contest Entries Are Pouring In

ANGELS CAMP, Calif. (AP)—Mark Twain inspired this gold rush day town's annual Jumping Frog Jubilee with his story of the frustrated hopper.

Loaded with buckshot by a slick gambler, the frog was unable to leap in Twain's "The Celebrated Jumping Frog of Calaveras County."

Buckshot will be barred when hundreds of frogs compete Sunday in the 34th annual Calaveras County Fair's Jumping Frog Jubilee.

Frogs still were being flown in from all parts of the world and the jubilee sponsors were having trouble keeping track of them. They didn't know how many entries they had.

But they noted frogs from Africa, Spain and many states, including Missouri, Illinois, Connecticut, Maryland, Arkansas, California, Nevada and Oregon.

Each entrant gets three leaps which are totaled.

If a hopper breaks the world's record Sunday his owner will win a $1,000 prize. An owner of a frog equaling the 16 feet 10 inches record will get $500.

If the record is not equaled, top prize will be $300.

Centaur Test Fizzle Capped Delays, Engineering Errors

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP)—On May 8 at 2:49 p.m. a shining rocket trembled on its launching pad at Cape Canaveral and lifted into the air.

Its bottom half was an Atlas booster, but the top was something new in American rocketry—a second stage using liquid hydrogen as a fuel. It is called the Centaur.

Behind that launching lay nearly four years of intense research and engineering, many heart-breaking delays and many unforeseen technical roadblocks growing out of its exotic fuel, the most powerful chemical combination possible.

Centaur was 16 months behind its original timetable when it roared off the pad that afternoon. Cameras were trained on the gleaming tube as it struggled became assured at the end of March.

The Commerce Department said personal income had risen by more than $2.8 billion to an all-time high annual rate of $438.7 billion.

With auto sales bowling along at the fastest clip since 1955, GM—in the first 10 days of May—cornered 61.6 per cent of the market, the biggest share since the days of Henry Ford and his Tin Lizzie. GM previously had chalked up its biggest profit ever in 1962's first quarter.

Industrywide production of cars held practically abreast of the past week's record level, with an estimated total of 156,000 rolling off the assembly lines.

Gross national product, the Commerce Department said, hit an annual rate of $548.3 billion in the first quarter, up better than $6 billion from the preceding three months.

Also at a peak, nonfarm payrolls listed 54,699,000 names, an unprecedented figure for an April. The gain in housing starts, eight per cent, put the seasonally adjusted annual rate last month at 1,542,000, the Census Bureau said.

There were indications that the stock market may have stopped, for the time being anyway, a dizzy plunge that at one time Monday carried the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial issues down more than 100 points from its Dec. 13 high of 734.91.

Stock sales on the New York Stock Exchange for the latest week totaled 19,566,770, up from 18,419,640 the week before. Bond sales on the exchange were $36,988,000 (par value) and $35,783,000, respectively.

The break-off in talks between railroad management and five operating brotherhoods at Chicago underscored deep differences over work rules and hinted at trouble ahead later in the year.

In New York, representatives of Aluminum Co. of America, industry bellwether, opened wage contract discussions with the United Steelworkers Union to replace a pact expiring July 31.

Among the scattering of companies with disappointing news for stockholders was Anaconda Co., big copper producer. Clyde E. Weed, chairman, called 1961 profits of $3.93 a share inadequate and said the horizon was cloudy.

Garage Near Rogers Damaged By Fire

aloft. All seemed well at first. But after 50 seconds a cloud of hydrogen vapor surrounded the upper stage, pieces of the siding began coming off and a dark spot spread across the Centaur's fuel tank.

At 56 seconds after launch it blew up.

Then the postmortems began. Why did Centaur flunk its first flight test? Why was it so far behind schedule? What caused the delays along the line? If mistakes were made, have they been corrected?

A House space subcommittee asked these questions this week and got some of the answers.

From Grant L. Hansen, program director for General Dynamics Astronautics, which built the rocket, came the best guess as to the cause of the explosion:

This design was based on "a shield between the nose fairing and the Centaur itself . . . was to blame."

This design was based on "assumptions of aerodynamic loads which turned out to be false."

He conceded, on hindsight, that "this was an engineering mistake." But he said it would be pretty easy to correct the design.

Dr. Werner Von Braun, the ex-German rocket expert who heads the Marshall Space Flight Center team at Huntsville, Ala., had an explanation for some of the technical trouble:

"Not enough technical penetration" of the General Dynamics operation by the technical experts from Huntsville. This situation is now corrected, he said, and he is convinced "Centaur will succeed."

At first only one mission was assigned to Centaur—to put a high altitude satellite into an exact 24-hour orbit so that it would stay over one spot on earth.

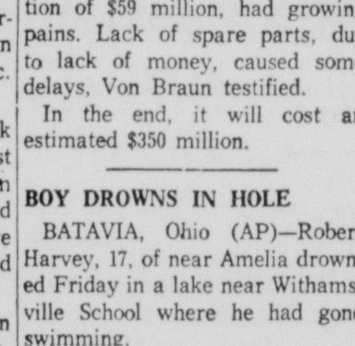

But as the years went by, space planners began to see more and more fields for Centaur to conquer, and other missions were added: to carry scientific probes to the Moon and Mars and Venus; to act as an upper stage of the huge Saturn booster; to become a workhorse space vehicle as the space age passed out of the toddler stage. Each of these assignments meant changes in design.

The project, started on a comparatively shoe-string appropriation of $59 million, had growing pains. Lack of spare parts, due to lack of money, caused some delays, Von Braun testified.

In the end, it will cost an estimated $350 million.

The state secretariat in charge of repatriation in a tabulation gave only the number of "heads of families" arriving because repatriates may claim assistance only if the head of the family is repatriated.

Many families moved to France while the husband and father remained in Algeria to continue at his job or look after his business. These families are not included in the secretariat figures.

The tabulation showed: January, 306 heads of families arriving from Algeria; February, 968; March, 3,906; April, 4,383; and the first half of May, 3,672.

Friday, 1,558 persons arrived on one ship from Algeria. Many more, unable to get aboard, were left on the dock at Algiers.

Howland's Davenport Voted MVP; Bill Beery Ties Quaker 440 Record

By LYNN BROWNE News Sports Editor Coach Bob Sapahe's Youngstown Rayen Tigers copped the first N.E.O. District Class AA track and field crown in their school's history Friday as they out-pointed 31 other schools in action at Salem's Reilly Stadium. Rayen, the first Youngstown city school to win the championship since 1934, ended the meet with 22 tallies, nudging another steel city school — Wilson — by two points. Poland's Bulldogs were third with 18 1-3 points. Other schools that participated and their total points include Ravenna (17), Warren (15), Howland (15), Marlington (14 1-3), Alliance (13 1/2), Canfield (12 1-3), Champion (10), Salem (10), Kent Roosevelt (8).

YOUNGSTOWN EAST (7 1/2), Niles (7), Youngstown South (6 1/2), Struthers (6), Mooney (5 1/2), Fitch (5), Youngstown Chaney (4), Campbell (3), Beaver Local (1 1/2), Hubbard (1), Youngstown North (1) and East Palestine (1/2).

Last year's winner, Boardman, failed to break into the scoring column as did Crestwood, Fairless, Field, Girard, Newton Falls, Southern and Youngstown Ursuline.

Last night's meet was scored on a 6-4-3-2-1 basis with the top four finishers in each event being eligible for the state competitions May 25-26.

FIVE SALEM ATHLETES will compete in the state meet. Bill Beery placed second in the 440-yard dash and ran the anchor leg on the Quakers' mile relay squad that finished fourth. Also in the relay squad were Dave Taus, Tad Bonsall and Jim Ward. Ty Enders earned a trip to Columbus by placing second in the discus.

Although they won the meet, the Tigers grabbed first place in only one event, Rich Ballantine, Willie Donaldson, Lewis Cook and Ralph Coleman combined their skills in the half mile relay to

Russians Trail Italians 2-0 In Davis Cup Event

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union Davis Cup team—entered in the tournament for the first time—had its back to the wall today against powerful Italy, the defending European Zone champion.

The Italians took a 2-0 lead into the doubles match on Rome's clay courts. A loss would send the Russians back to Moscow.

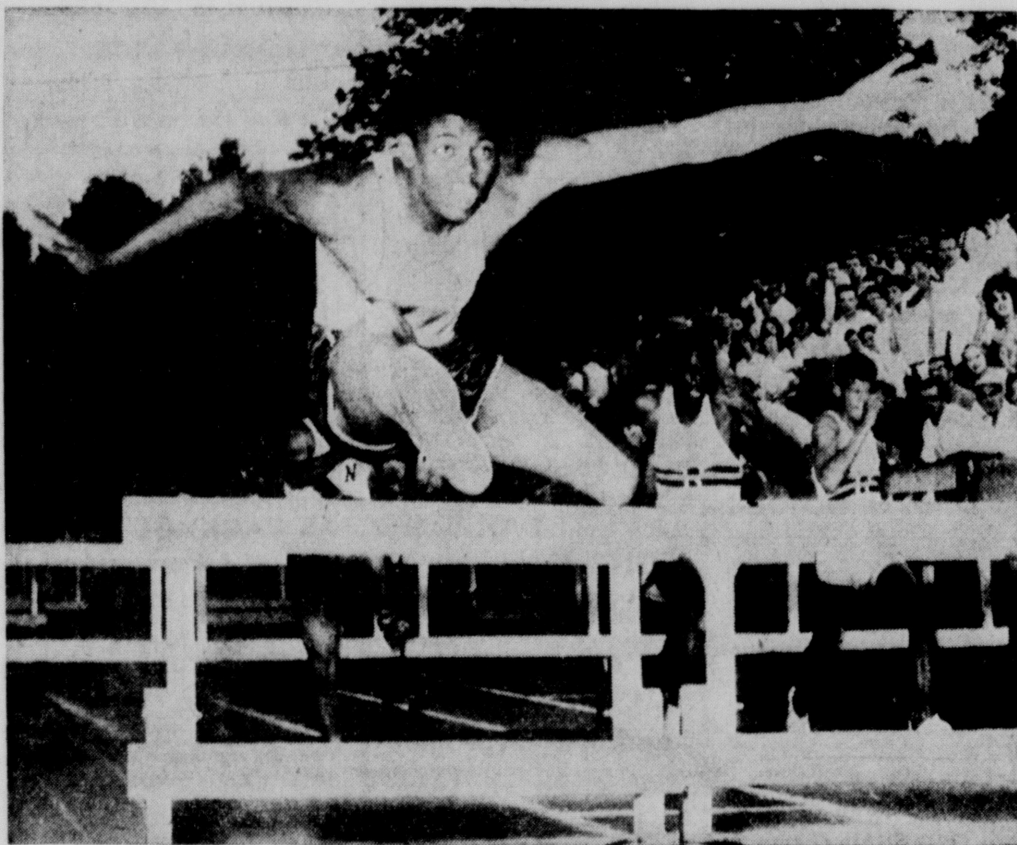

The ace Italians doubles combination of Nicola Pietrangeli and Orlando Sirola were the overwhelming favorites to whip any combination the Russians sent on the court.

In the opening singles of the second round play Friday, Pietrangeli turned back Tomas Lejus, the Soviets' No. 1 player, 6-4, 1-6, 6-3, 6-1, and Fausto Gardini sailed past Sergie Lickachev, 6-0, 6-2, 6-3.

Pirates Tamed by Reds' Purkey

Houston Trims Full Game Off San Francisco's Lead

The fluctuating career of knuckleball specialist Ken Johnson, resembling one of his best pitches, was back in the strike zone today. The Houston hand-me-down won his first game of the season with his first hit.

A victim of a low output offensive in losing five games, Johnson got the job done singlehandedly against National League leading San Francisco Friday night, cooling off the sizzling Giants with a four-hitter and driving in the winning run in the Colts 3-2, 10-inning victory.

Johnson, acquired by Houston from Cincinnati in the player draft that stocked the new club, baffled the Giants with his assortment of "junk" pitches until he got a chance to win it with a two-out single that scored Carl Warwick.

The Giants, however, maintained their three-game edge over the runner-up Los Angeles Dodgers, beaten by third-place St. Louis 8-3. Cincinnati's fourth-place Reds closed in as Bob Purkey brought his record to 7-0 with a 4-1 victory over Pittsburgh. Milwaukee's Warren Spahn held the New York Mets to three hits for a 5-2 decision, and Chicago's Cubs outslugged Philadelphia 11-8 in other games. Charley James' single drove in two first inning runs for the Cards before they clinched it with four in the third, Bill White knocking in a pair with a single. That proved enough for Larry Jackson (4-4), who scattered nine Dodger hits. Johnny Podres (3-3) started for Los Angeles but had to leave in the first when Ken Boyer's single hit hit on the left forearm.

Tribe Whips Tigers 9-2 Donovan Raps Two Homers, Wins No. 7

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dick Donovan, whose seven straight victories makes him the winningest pitcher in the American League, rapped two tremendous home runs to keep Cleveland rolling along in first place.

"I found myself a new left-handed, long ball pinch hitter," said Manager Mel McGaha.

Donovan hurled a five-hitter and coasted to a 9-2 decision over the Detroit Tigers Friday night. The Indians, who have hit 15 homers in the last five games, also had big blasts from Willie Kirkland (No. 4) and Chuck Essegian (No. 7). Kirkland's came with one on and Essegian's with two on.

Rocky Colavito cracked a 430-foot homer for the Tigers in the seventh frame after Donovan had retired 13 straight batters.

Donovan, who throws right-handed, but bats lefty, wallowed a 450-foot shot over the fence in right center. It smacked against the railing in the Cleveland bullpen.

To prove it was no fluke, Donovan did it again two innings later, also off loser Paul Foytack (1-1). This one was in the same area, but traveled "only" about 400 feet.

Bubba Phillips drove in two runs with a double in the fourth inning to put the Tribe in front 3-1. The Tigers had jumped to a 1-0 lead in the first on Chico Fernandez' double and Al Kaline's single.

"He's certainly off to a great start," said McGaha of Donovan. "And you know he's always been a good warm weather pitcher. This is about the first hot night he's had."

Essegian and Kirkland each have hit a homer in the Indians' last three games. Tito Francona had three of Cleveland's nine hits Friday night.

Jim Perry (2-0) was the Cleveland starter slated to face the Tigers' Don Mossi (2-4) today.

2 World Track Records Broken Oerter, Long Snap Discus, Shot Marks

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A pair of Giants toppled world records and a powerhouse runner from New Zealand, Peter Snell, supplied the brilliance in winning the "miracle mile."

Such was the story today as 40,007 fans turned out for the 22nd annual Memorial Coliseum Relays Friday night. Discus thrower Al Oerter and shot putter Dallas Long were the record smashers.

The 23-year-old Snell, claimant of the world record for the mile, suddenly cut loose with a burst of speed heading into the last 220 yards that brought these results:

Defeat for the pride of Oregon, 21-year-old Dyrrol Burleson, who saw his American record of 3:57.9 surpassed.

Snell hit the tape in 3:56.1, with Burleson a well beaten second in 3:57.9.

And a former Oregon distance star, Jim Grelle, came in third in 3:58.9 to make it a threesome which bettered the 4-minute mark.

Oerter opened the show with a discus throw of 200 feet 5 1/2 inches to become the first athlete to officially better 200 feet. The mark bettered the world standard of 199-2 1/2 set in 1961 by Jay Silvester of Tremonton, Utah.

Huge Dallas Long of the University of Southern California hit 65 feet 10 1/2 inches on his second shot put, surpassing by one-half inch the world record set by Bill Nieder in 1960.

Columbiana Area Woman Fires Ace At Valley Club

The second hole-in-one hit this week at the Valley Golf Club was the hole-in-one as official club pro and owner.

The ace was fired Tuesday by Mrs. Janet Weber of RD 1, Columbiana, on the 160-yard fourth hole. She used a No. 2 wood, Rohrer said. Other members of her foursome at the time were her husband, Jim, Bob Hodge of Lisbon and Les Older of Salem.

Rohrer said darkness overcame the party while they were playing the fifth hole, and he did not report he hole-in-one as official until last night when Mrs. Weber returned to finish the nine holes.

The club owners said the last hole-in-one hit by a woman at the club occurred in 1954. I was fired by Ruby Brubaker of Columbiana.

So far this year, three aces have been recorded at the club. The other one this week was hit by Ron Stanley of 430 N. Ellsworth Ave., also on the fourth hole.

Out For At Least 2 Weeks

Mantle Hurt As Yanks Lose 4-3

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The fate of the New York Yankees in the American League pennant race may rest on the oft-injured legs of Mickey Mantle, the Yanks' Mr. Indispensable.

The outfielder sustained a severe muscular tear and minor damage to his left knee on the last play of New York's 4-3 loss to Minnesota Friday night. He will be lost to the suddenly-struggling Yankees for at least two weeks, possibly longer.

Mick collapsed in a heap about 10 feet before reaching first while running out a ground ball—the third out in the ninth inning. He hobbled from the field, leaning heavily on the shoulders of teammates, and was hospitalized.

"Mick pulled a muscle in his right upper leg while he was running to first," New York Manager Ralph Houk said. "It knotted up and he fell heavily on his left knee."

He's the latest casualty in an impressive list of Yankee injuries, which has at least helped contribute to the world champions' dive to third place.

Others included sore-armed relief ace Luis Arroyo and Roger Maris, the other half of the M&M home run team, who has been suffering from a groin pull. Maris is due to return to duty today. Arroyo hasn't pitched in over two weeks.

Cleveland, getting a pair of homers and outstanding pitching from Dick Donovan, took over sole possession of first place with a 9-2 victory over Detroit.

Donovan's seventh win, without a loss, put the Indians a half game ahead of Minnesota, which vaulted over New York, and a full game up on the Yanks.

Baltimore beat Chicago 7-4 in 12 innings, Los Angeles beat Boston 8-4 and Washington edged Kansas City 3-2 in the others.

Harmon Killebrew, hitting only .198 going into last night's game, hammered a two-run homer that wiped out a 3-2 New York lead and set up an earlier run with a double as Minnesota won its fifth straight and 10th in 13 games.

Don Lee (3-2) limited New York to seven hits, but needed relief help from lefty Dick Stigman when the Yanks threatened in the ninth. Whitey Ford (3-3), the first lefty to start against Minnesota this season, lost.

Jaipur 5-2 Choice Today In Preakness

BALTIMORE (AP)—George D. Widener's Jaipur was the 5-2 early favorite for the $188,300 Preakness today even though he never had met his top two rivals—El Peco Ranch's Decidedly and Mrs. Moody Jolley's Ridan.

Decidedly, who lowered the 21-year-old record for the Kentucky Derby by one second two weeks ago, and Ridan, a moody, hard-to-control colt, were rated second choice at 3-1.

Eleven were entered for the one and three-sixteenths mile feature at Pimlico. Post-time was 4:47 p.m. (EST) and a crowd of 33,000 was expected to be on hand.

The race was scheduled to be televised by CBS from 4:30 to 5 p.m. (EST).

The track for the 86th running of the second classic of racing's Triple Crown is fast—faster, perhaps, than it ever has been. That will be to Decidedly's liking.

Bill Hartack, who piloted Decidedly to his Derby victory, was up again. Bobby Ussery handled Jaipur and, Ridan had Manuel Ycaza.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

A word from THERON at the Old Country Store

A fellow was telling me the other day when he shops for food he goes to a grocery store and when he shops for stamps he goes to the Post Office. He is like most men he just can't see stamps. They cost money, lots of money and the customer since they are any stores only source of income just has to pay for them. We know that since we don't issue them we were able to reduce prices and pass the savings on to the customer.
